

- * A final variable must be initialized by developer only once.
- * If a final instance variable is not initialized at the time of declaration then it is called blank final field.

```
final int x; //blank final field (final int x = 200; We assigned that's why not a blank final field)
```
- * A blank final field cannot be initialized by default constructor OR inside method body.